

Apps for Home Learning

We are often asked about websites and apps that can help our children practice and consolidate their learning at home. Therefore, we've compiled a list of some of the apps that we would recommend. These apps focus on the basic reading, writing and number skills and knowledge that underpin all of the children's learning, no matter which year group they are in. With a solid foundation in the basics, children make rapid progress in all areas of the curriculum.

The apps listed below are not a curriculum requirement. You do not have to purchase them but we know that some of you will want to buy learning apps and would rather buy those that we believe will support the children's progress.
