

Vocabulary

animation	the process used for digitally generating moving images
online	an activity or service available on or performed using the internet or other computer network target audience	a particular group of people that a product or service is aimed at.
theme	the look or 'feel' of a product or service
transition	the animated or visual change that happens when moving between pages or views on a website or application

When we use a search engine, it shows a list of websites. Some websites appear near the top because they are popular and visited by lots of people.

Stop, Check, Compare and Choose!

Top Tips:

- Stop and think. Is the information really true?
- Check more than one website (source).
- Compare the information you find. Does the information match?
- Choose trusted, well-known websites e.g. BBC Bitesize.

Digital Media – Interactive eBooks

Interactive eBooks are digital books that let the reader do things, such as click links, watch videos, answer quizzes and explore interactive diagrams. These features help readers learn more and understand information more easily.

What are eBook used for?

Reading stories for fun.

Learning new things at school or at home.

Finding information about different topics.

Watching videos and animations to help understanding.

Completing quizzes and activities to practise learning.

Exploring links to discover more information.

Reading anywhere on a tablet, computer or phone.

Hyperlinks

Click here the see more!

A hyperlink is a clickable piece of text or an image screen that whisks you away to a brand-new web page or a different spot on the exact same page.